

sir george williams university montreal 107

Summer Institute in HISTORY
July 7-Aug. 19
1969

TRAIAN STOIANOVICH

Rutgers University

Material Foundations of European Civilization, 1500–1800

C.W. CURWEN

School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London

Popular Rebellion in Modern China

PETER LARMOUR

Ohio State University

Education and Society in Modern Europe

FRANK OTTO GATELL

University of California, Los Angeles

America Comes of Age,
1789–1877

FOR DETAILS WRITE TO
DIRECTOR, SUMMER INSTITUTE
DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

MONTREAL

With its 2,000,000 people, Montreal is the second largest French city in the world. Its culture is a distinctive blend of French, British, and American customs and attitudes. Old historic buildings are mingled with the modern architecture of a large metropolis in a great port on the St. Lawrence River. The Laurentian Mountains and the Green Mountains of Vermont are only an hour's drive away.

HOUSING

The University does not operate student residences. It is, however, prepared to assist students in finding suitable lodgings, upon request. These should be addressed to the Office of the Dean of Students.

RECREATION

The city of Montreal offers a wide variety of cultural and recreational opportunities. The Office of Student Affairs will be glad to furnish specific information about these and to make any arrangements that may be required. Registered students are also entitled to use the swimming and gymnasium facilities.

ADMISSION

Admission and registration are by mail and on a first-come first-served basis. Course enrollments will be limited.

These are third and fourth year undergraduate courses. A full course is the equivalent of six semester hours, lectures being two hours per day from Monday through Friday for six weeks.

Students interested in exploring the relationship between philosophical and sociological approaches to the study of man are particularly welcome. Prerequisites are listed with each course description. Students from other institutions are welcome and are expected to have comparable prerequisites. A transcript or letter from the appropriate institution should be submitted as documentation of prerequisites.

PREREQUISITES

Fees are one hundred dollars for a full course.

FEES

A deposit of $25.00 (certified check or money order made out to Sir George Williams University) per full course must accompany an application for admission and registration. This money will be credited to fees if an application is accepted. It will be refunded only if an application is refused. The balance of the fee must be paid within 10 calendar days of the beginning of classes.

No refund of fees can be made after July 15.

Sir George students are reminded that they may not earn more than two course credits in one summer, regardless of the session in which the courses are taken.

NOTE

All application forms, inquiries, and correspondence concerning these courses should be addressed to:

ADDRESS

Director, Summer Institute
Department of History
Sir George Williams University
Montréal 107, P.Q.
Canada

FORMER VISITING PROFESSORS

1964

Lewis A. Coser
Brandeis University
Rose Laub Coser
Harvard Medical School

Joseph H. Fichter, S.J.
Loyola University of the South
Robin M. Williams, Jr.
Cornell University

1965

Helen MacGill Hughes
Brandeis University
Scott A. Greer
Northwestern University
Alfred R. Lindesmith
Indiana University

Jan Szczepanski
University of Lodz, Poland
Bernard E. Segal
Dartmouth Medical School
Kurt H. Wolff
Brandeis University

1966

Forrest E. LaViolette
Tulane University
Raymond W. Mack
Northwestern University
Hans O. Mauksch
Illinois Institute of Technology

John M. Mogey
Boston University
Kaare Svalastoga
University of Copenhagen, Denmark
James Bertin Webster
University of Ibadan, Nigeria

Peter M. Worsley
University of Manchester, England

1967

Scott A. Greer
Northwestern University
Blake McKelvey
City Historian, Rochester, N.Y.
G. Duncan Mitchell
University of Exeter, England
Fernand Ouellet
Carleton University

Norman Pollack
Wayne State University
Charles Tilly
University of Toronto
Fred W. Voget
Southern Illinois University
Samuel E. Wallace
Brandeis University

1968

Stanley Mealing
Carleton University, Ottawa
Herbert Gutman
University of Rochester, New York

A.N.J. Den Hollander
University of Amsterdam, Holland
Renee C. Fox
Harvard University

Rudolf Schlesinger
Glasgow University

Material Foundations of European Civilization, 1500-1800

Old and new patterns of demography, production, consumption, and communication of goods, services, information, and values. Special emphasis on the role of fashion, new time and space values, and war and revolution as agents of modernization. An analysis of the ultimate fusion of individual capitalist traits into a capitalist structure.

History 447.0A

Prerequisite: One course in European History
or permission of the History
Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:00–11:00

Visiting Professor:
Traian Stoianovich
Rutgers University

TRAIAN STOIANOVICH, a graduate of the University of Rochester, New York University, and holder of the Doctorat de l'Université from the University of Paris, is Professor of History at Rutgers University. He has also taught at the University of California, Stanford University, and New York University. He has been the recipient of numerous research grants including those from the Centre de Recherches Historiques, Paris, and the American Philosophical Society. He has also been a Fulbright Research Fellow. He is on the editorial board of the Journal of Social History. He is the author of A Study of Balkan Civilization, the forthcoming Mirror of European Civilization: A Cultural and Social History, and numerous articles on Balkan social and economic history including the monograph "The Conquering Balkan Orthodox Merchant," published in the Journal of Economic History.

Popular Rebellion in Modern China

A survey of the popular and peasant rebellions in nineteenth century China with emphasis on the "greatest civil war in human history" — the Taiping Rebellion. These revolutionary movements will be traced into the twentieth century with a view to discovering the continuities between peasant rebellion and the Chinese Revolution.

History 463.0A

Prerequisite: One course in Asian or Chinese history or permission of the History Director.

Full Course: Mon to Fri. 2:00—4:00

Visiting Professor:
C.A. Curwen
London University

CHARLES CURWEN, holder of a D. Phil. from the University of London, is a Lecturer in Far Eastern History at the School of Oriental and African Studies at the University of London. His intimate knowledge of the history and people of China stems both from scholarship and nine years' residence there spanning the Revolution. He is the author of the forthcoming The Deposition of Li Hsiu-ch'eng.

Education and Society

The course will deal with the relationship of educational institutions to culture and social structure during the 19th and 20th centuries. France, from the Napoleonic reforms to the university explosion of 1968, will be the major focus; but England, Germany and the United States will serve as references. Special concerns will be the social basis of 19th century philosophy and the 19th century French novel. General questions of the sociology of culture and the sociology of knowledge will be raised. Readings in Durkheim, Taine, Renan, G.H. Mead, R. Dahrendorf, Pierre Bourdieu, Berger & Luckmann.

History 446.0A

Prerequisite: One course in European History
or permission of History Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 2:00—4:00

Visiting Professor:
Peter J. Larmour
Ohio State University.

PETER J. LARMOUR, a graduate of the University of Toronto and holder of the Ph.D. from Columbia University, is Associate Professor of History at Ohio State University. In September, 1969, he will become Associate Professor of History at the State University of Iowa. He has held a William L. MacKenzie-King Graduate Fellowship, a Canada Council Grant, a Social Science Research Council Grant, and an American Philosophical Society Grant, all for research in France and Austria. He is the author of The French Radical party in the 1930's.

The American Nation Takes Shape, 1789-1877

A Social History of the United States from its inception through the crisis of Civil War and Reconstruction. Emphasis on the interrelationship among government, politics, social change, and economic developments.

History 459.0A

Prerequisite: One course in American History
or permission of the History
Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:00—11:00

Visiting Professor:
Frank Otto Gatell
University of California,
Los Angeles

FRANK OTTO GAETLL, a graduate of the College of the City of New York, received his Ph. D. From Harvard University. He has taught at the University of Maryland, Stanford University, and is currently Associate Professor of History at the University of California at Los Angeles. During the past year he was visiting Professor at the Universidad de Chile, Santiago. He is the author of John Gorham Palfrey and the New England Conscience, The Jacksonians and the Money Power, and recently published anthology on the history of the black man in the United States. His other writings include articles on slavery and abolitionism, colonial America, American expansion into the Caribbean, and social and economic developments during the Jacksonian period.